	Elizabeth first appears on the 1891 Census aged 8 yrs, making her year of birth 1883. There is no record of her birth. At her marriage to George Brown in 1899 she gave her age as 20, but was probably only 16. Two months later she gave birth to Alfred George Brown. On the 1901 Census she was living with her mother and Stepfather William Martin in Kensington. George was serving in the Boer War. Information from Irene Brown (sister of Alfred George) suggests that George was not in fact Alfred's father. His biological father was said to be a soldier who had been killed before his birth. However Alfred George bears a strong physical resemblance to George Brown so this seems unlikely.
